

Agnatic Ancestors Index

Agnatic (YDNA) ancestors of descendants with whom I share one or multiple direct genealogical relationships as designated on the individual listings on the Master Roster of All Ancestors Studied. Index numbers that follow each "agnatic" indication reflect a patrilineal relationship(s) to an ultimate primogenitor of the lineage. Often, there is only one, but in most instances, two or more is revealed.

There was a heavy reliance on three primary sources* of genealogical pedigrees to render mainly qualitative analytical determinations of these ancient pedigrees. Still, while our ancestors deceased many centuries ago, some of the stories of their lives live to influence our lives to this very day, largely unchallenged as historical facts that are so woven into the fabric of our ancestral heritage as to be sacrosanct from critical review, or, if not, forever forgotten from view.
